

Chief Executive Officer

An opportunity to integrate public relations, research, government affairs and training

Delta Media is seeking a new CEO. Our current CEO, Bernard Gauthier, has answered the call of academia. Bernard will remain on the board of directors of Delta Media and will continue to serve clients as Executive Counsel.

So now we've got some big shoes to fill. We also have a sweet corner office overlooking the Parliamentary precinct, a seasoned team of professional communicators, a long list of satisfied clients, and countless opportunities to strategically integrate public relations, research, government affairs and training into solutions for our clients.

To successfully lead the Delta Media team, the new CEO will need marathon-level endurance and entrepreneurial drive that roars across Ottawa and beyond faster than you can say #earlyadopter. Our new CEO currently enjoys a strong reputation for trusted advice and high ethical standards.

Delta Media's CEO will lead a firm with a great reputation, a professional working environment, esprit de corps, good benefits and global reach.

Candidates will possess a minimum of fifteen years of experience, relevant education and the ability to roll-up their sleeves in an effort to exceed expectations.

Delta Media is one of Canada's leading public relations firms, providing a full suite of research, public relations, training and government relations services on behalf of clients in business, industry, government, associations and the not-for-profit sector.

From our headquarters in Ottawa and western office in Victoria, Delta Media helps its clients build awareness, generate sales and influence public opinion across Canada, and around the world.

Please contact Delta Media Chairman, Tim Kane, to discuss your future. tim@deltamedia.ca

Visit deltamedia.ca for more information on our clients and our approach to business.

deltamedia
the art and science of strategic communication